Dr. W. R. Anderson Recalls Adventure of World-Wide Nation

The story of the Jews—described by one authority as the greatest miracle of all history—was told at the Hope Rotary club luncheon Friday in Hotel Barlow by Dr. W. R. Anderson, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

"They are the only colored nation on the face of the earth," Dr. Anderson said, "yet they are the healthiest of all people, able to withstand plagues when other races are swept away. Their blood strain has remained absolutely pure from the day of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, down to the present day."

Entertainment To Be Big Feature of Next Week's Fair

Plenty of Amusement for Visitors Every Day and Night

RACING PROGRAM

Racing, Fireworks, Fox Chase and Ball Games Among Attractions

The entertainment and amusement program for the Southwest Arkansas Fair which opens in Hope next Monday evening will measure up to the high standard set the past three years according to announcements from fair headquarters Friday. The fair management has done everything possible to provide plenty of entertainment for fair visitors who are assured a program that would cost an admission of $1.50 to $2.00 at many of the larger fairs.

Fireworks Program

Probably the most popular feature of the program will be a grand display of fireworks at night. The public always wants variety in its entertainment and the program this year is out of the ordinary and larger in size than has ever been witnessed in this part of the state. All the new features known to fireworks manufacturers will be seen in this program.

Another popular feature will be the midway attractions which will be furnished by one of America's cleanest and most popular amusement companies. These attractions will consist of 12 good shows, seven standard riding devices and other amusement features.

A visit to the midway this year will be worth the price of admission to the fair and will prove a sure cure for those suffering from the blues and other worries.

Horse Racing

Horse racing will also occupy an important place on the entertainment each day of the fair. The racing program will consist of half-mile and mile running races, novelty races, etc. There will be a department for horses from Hempstead and adjoining counties. Any horse in Southwest Arkansas may participate in this feature of the racing program. Attractive purses are being offered and there will likely be a large number of entries by the time the fair opens.

Baseball Game

Other features will include a baseball game Tuesday afternoon to be played by teams representing Hope and Hot Springs; bicycle tournament in which some real bicycle races will be witnessed; a dog parade in which all boys and girls may enter their dogs; cow calling contest; band playing; and other interesting features.

The fair management announces that everything will be in readiness to begin receiving exhibits Saturday morning. It is hoped that as many as possible bring their exhibits Saturday in order to avoid the rush Monday.

Creeks swollen by excessive rainfall reached flood proportions in Fayette county.

Fliers May Plan Second Attempt

Moyle and Allen Consider Another Trial for Pacific Flight

SEATTLE.—(AP)—Possibility that Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen, California aviators forced down by fuel shortage off the Siberian coast last week and missing until Thursday, were planning another attempt to span the North Pacific in a single hop, was learned in dispatches received here.

The Russian steamer Buriat, which found the fliers on an uninhabited island off Cape Navarin and refueled their plane, first reported to the naval radio station at Paul Island in Bering sea that the fliers would continue their flight to Seattle.

Later, in communicating with another Russian vessel, the Buriat was overheard mentioning Tokio as a possible objective for the fliers. This might indicate that the fliers were considering returning to Japan for another try at the nonstop flight.

The plane and the fliers were reported by the Buriat to be in "perfect condition." A storm raging around Navarin island will have to subside, the Buriat said, before the American fliers will take off.

The fliers were taken off Navarin island and put ashore in the village of Miano, Tilgino island.

Three Killed, Two Wounded As Filling Station Men Fight

Feud Blamed by Officers Who Investigate Early Friday

MAN IS ABDUCTED

One Wounded Man Is Believed to Be Injured Fatally

TEXARKANA.—(AP)—A feud between two men operating filling stations close together near the Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana state lines was blamed Friday by J. H. Boyd for his abduction and gun fight late Thursday night in which he killed three men, wounded another and was himself shot.

The dead are Hardy Ince, Willard Fish and Earlton Sullivan. William Sullivan was probably fatally wounded.

The feud was between Boyd and Luce.

Boyd, operator of one of the filling stations said a man came to his station and told him his car ran out of gasolene a short distance down the road. Boyd armed himself and started to carry fuel to the machine. The man followed him down the dark road.

Boyd said as he neared the machine a man leaped out of the darkness and struck him. They grappled. Boyd liberated himself and as he did so a man in the car opened fire. Boyd was struck in the arm. Gaining cover behind the machine he returned the fire.

When officers arrived they found three of the four dead. The fourth man was thought to have been fatally wounded.

Boyd was rushed to Atlanta, Tex., in a serious condition. He was carrying a can of gasolene when the man attacked him.

Officers said two of the dead men were disguised as negroes.

Arkansas Second In Road Surfacing

Wisconsin Leads All the States With 1,825 Miles Last Year

The total expenditures by state highway departments last year amounted to $980,000,000, an increase of 22 per cent over 1929. The road surfaced was 2,393 miles greater than in the previous year.

Mrs. D. B. Thompson Is Chosen as Delegate to State Convention

The September meeting of the Hope Women's Christian Temperance Union, was held at the home of Dr. Etta E. Champlin, with Miss Mamie Twitchell associate hostess.

The meeting was opened with the playing of a Victrola record, "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," followed by a prayer which was led by Mrs. H. H. Stuart, president.

A splendid devotional was given by Mrs. D. B. Thompson, who used Galatians 5:13-25 for the basis of her remarks.

The treasurer, Mrs. R. W. Muldrow, gave her report for the year and stated that all pledges had been or would be met and the condition of the Union's finances were encouraging, despite the depression which has limited so many lines of activity.

Mrs. H. H. Stuart, president, Mrs. R. W. Muldrow, treasurer, and Miss Mamie Twitchell, secretary, were re-elected for the ensuing year, and Mrs. D. B. Thompson was elected vice-president and also chosen delegate to the State Convention in Prescott, October 6 and 7.

A large percentage of those present signed the petition to be presented at the World Disarmament Conference next year which urges the abandonment of war and the promotion of world peace through increased education and understanding of the peoples of the world.

Miss Frieda Jones gave two splendid readings, "Comfort" and "Romance."

During the social hour, the hostess served a delicious salad plate with iced tea.

The next meeting will be held October 15, the place to be announced later.

Kills Wife Then Takes Own Life

E. H. Beggs, Railway Shop Worker, Ends Double Tragedy

TEXARKANA.—E. H. Beggs, 40, employed until Thursday as a machinist helper at the St. Louis Southwestern railroad shops here, shot and killed instantly his wife Thursday afternoon at his home and then turned the weapon on himself and fired one shot into his brain, causing his death at a local hospital 30 minutes later.

A lengthy quarrel preceded the double killing, it was said by Bessie Lee, 12-year-old daughter of the couple, the only witness. The daughter said her father had been laid off from his job.

"He was planning to go to Commerce, Texas, where he had another job located," she said. "He wanted mamma to go with him, but she did not want to go because she had nothing to wear. She asked daddy to buy her a new dress, but he refused."

"She then told him she would go out and see if she could borrow the money to buy the dress."

"Daddy got mad and started cursing, and a moment later I heard three shots. I ran into the room just as he fired another shot into his head and fell to the floor beside mamma."

"I tried to talk to them, but both were unconscious. I ran outside and called for help. A neighbor called an ambulance."

Two other children, Margerie, 11, and Mildred, 9, were in school at the time of the double killing. The family had been here about a year, having come here from Commerce.

Kiwanis Given Squirrel Dinner

Luther Garner Prepares Feast at Fair Ground Thursday

A squirrel dinner was the feature attraction of the Kiwanis club this week, when the club met at the Fair Grounds Thursday night.

Arrangements for 15 young squirrels were made by Dewey Hendrix, in charge of the dinner. Hendrix made arrangements with Luther Garner, who has a reputation for being an expert in the art of preparing fish and game dinners. Fresh laurels were awarded for this reputation Thursday night for the food was a gorgeous one. Charles Harrell, of the Hope Auto company, was among the guests of the club.

Constitution week was observed by the club, when the Rev. Geo. F. X. Strasser delivered a stirring denunciation of the manner in which people have apparently lost respect for the constitution an all it stands for. "Designed as one of the greatest of documents," he said, "we as a nation seem to be sitting up nights in order to find methods of bending this charter of human liberty to fit our indulgences rather than to uphold it."

Three and possibly four members of the club are expected to attend the tri-state convention of Kiwanis, at Joplin, Mo. This convention starts Monday. Those of the local club, who are going are, Jesse Harbin, Rufus Herndon, and the Rev. Geo. F. X. Strasser.

A meeting of the board of directors will be held at Weltman's Store Friday night at 7:30.

Horse Stolen, Man Is Arrested Here

Lost Prairie Man in Jail on Complaint From Buzzard's Bluff

The first horse-thief arrest in many years occurred in Hope Friday afternoon when Chief of Police Stuart seized a man named Sanders, about 19, living at Lost Prairie on Red river, and placed him in the city jail.

Sanders, who is said to have an alias, is charged with stealing a horse from a man named Kelly, of Buzzard's Bluff, Thursday.

City and county officers were on the lookout for Sanders Thursday night and Friday, resulting in his arrest.

Officers were informed that Sanders took the horse to Sheppard, between here and Fulton, and sold it for $5, Chief Stuart said.

Mr. Reed's Last Straw

WITH a billion-dollar deficit looking the Republican administration in the eye, Senator Reed of Pennsylvania had a brain-storm this week and suggested the levying of a federal sales tax.

We see the political issue of another presidential campaign drawn in the reply made yesterday by Congressman Byrns, Democrat, of Tennessee. Mr. Byrns will have nothing to do with a sales tax. He declares, instead, that the government ought to increase the income tax rate in the higher brackets.

The best that can be said for Mr. Reed is that he is attempting to fix the price of the panic on the shoulders of the common people; while the worst that may be said of Mr. Byrns is that he is only advocating for the government the same policy pursued by private business during the panic—namely, the utilization of surplus.

When Mr. Reed argues the case of a sales tax he will have you believe that the tax falls upon manufacturers and store-keepers—but everyone knows that they draw their money from the consumer, and the only effect of a sales tax will be to advance retail prices by just that much.

Mr. Reed, being a United States senator who owes his election to the monied machine of Mr. Andrew Mellon's home town, cares little about the tax burden of the common people so long as his millionaire clients escape. And so determined is this statesman, that in order to save his friends and political allies he is perfectly willing to inflict on the nation not merely a tax on cigarettes and gasoline, but a general sales tax raising the price of every commodity bought and sold over the counters of America. It is the most radical proposal ever made in the U. S. A.—and the most unjust ever advocated in the course of a panic by a crowd of cowardly national leaders.

As a matter of fact, there is only one real source of taxation at a time like this—the income and wealth that have been salvaged from the last decade of prosperity. We tax those that have it.

Any other tax but this must come out of the pockets of the common people, struggling against an adverse trade situation to win back prosperity. The raw material markets, including cotton and wheat, are already demoralized. Recovery can come only through stimulated sales. What a swell help a sales tax would be!

Writing On the Wall

GERARD SWOPE'S program for the stabilization of industry, outlined in his recent speech before the National Electric Manufacturers' Association in New York, simply proves one more than no one on earth can be quite as radical as the big business man.

Head of one of the largest industries in the world, Swope plunges boldly into a series of proposals that would sound fearfully socialistic, not to say subversive, if they came from a politician.

To group the industries of the nation into gigantic trade associations under the friendly supervision of the federal government; to provide for every worker life insurance, accident insurance, unemployment insurance and a pension system that would enable each worker to retire at 70 on half pay; to give workers and the general public a controlling voice in the administration of these schemes—this, surely, is as radical a set of suggestions as any one could ask.

Nevertheless, this, or something like it, will undoubtedly be put into effect in the not too distant future. Swope himself asks, "Shall we wait for society to act through its legislatures, or shall industry recognize its obligation to its employees and to the public and undertake the task?"

One thing or the other must be done. The American public is in no mood to let the experiences of the past two years be duplicated a little later on. Purblind industrialists can emit grunts of horror about "Governmental interference" and "the dole" until they are hoarse; Swope has indicated the path they are going to follow, and they might as well recognize the fact.

Of course, putting a program of this kind into effect would be an enormously difficult job. But since when has American industry shied away from jobs because they were difficult? It has been our boast for two decades that our business and industrial leaders are the wisest on earth. Now is their chance to prove it.

Swope has done much to restore the ordinary citizen's confidence in the industrial leadership of the nation. His program is radical, to be sure; but radical measures are needed, and if industry cannot evolve them itself it can rest assured, as Swope remarks, that society will act, through its legislatures.

The Opening of the "Hunting" Season!

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Even if Walter S. Gifford and the new unemployment relief committee do a very good job they can hardly be guaranteed against criticism and attack. These Hoover commissions nearly always encounter trouble, great or small, sooner or later.

They are damned in proportion to their importance. Among the really hefty commissions engaged in trying to solve momentous problems you can't find one which, if it hasn't been attacked from without, hasn't gone and picked fights of its own.

Of course, no one ever bothers such Hoover commissions as those on the Battle of Monongahela, the Yellowstone Park boundary and the Alaska Highway and they don't go bothering anyone else, either.

But when you think of the Federal Farm Board and the National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement and of all the brickbats hurled at them since they first tackled the large questions of agricultural distress and prohibition respectively, you get to worrying about the unpleasant experience that may be in store for Gifford and his associates this fall and winter as they go up against the pressing matter of relief.

The Farm Board holds the record, of course. Perhaps because it has had the nerve to do so many astonishing things. Any federal body which was willing to enter the wheat and cotton markets in such a big way, fight the grain trade, subsidize wine concentrates and tell the cotton planters to destroy a third of their crop might well expect to create immense furor.

EVERYBODY took a kick at the Wickersham commission after its prohibition report, but since then, in report after report, the commission has been taking kicks at everybody else. And of course nearly everyone criticized by this commission tosses some mean comment right back at it.

There is a White House Conference on Child Health and Protection and, like the other important commissions, has done a great deal of constructive work. But even this was good for one warm row and that came about at its meeting here when the U. S. Public Health Service appeared to be trying to slobber up the U. S. Children's Bureau. Many members of the conference were just as sore as could be by the time the sessions were over.

The Emergency Committee on Employment struggled along for months despite an almost complete lack of authority to do anything at all and then its chairman Colonel Arthur Woods, walked out along with several other members. The general understanding is that President Hoover and Colonel Woods couldn't agree concerning measures that might be taken for relief.

THE Federal Power Commission is usually referred to as a "Hoover" commission because it has been reorganized and Hoover has appointed its members. That one got off to a flying start by firing its solicitor and chief accountant, who had many admirers in the Senate. The Senate undertook to reconsider its confirmation of the chairman and two other members, got itself roundly bawled out by Mr. Hoover and then threw the question of the legality of the commissioners' tenure right into the courts.

The Hoover Tariff Commission has been getting along by keeping quiet and not upsetting any apple carts, but Henry P. Fletcher is quitting the chairmanship because, one hears, he is rather bored.

Other commissions have been razed for recommendations, reports or acts—or just for alleged sins of omission. It's a puny one that hasn't found opposition in some quarter.

U. S. Consul Hurt in Hurricane

Giles R. Taggart (above), U. S. Consul at Belize, British Honduras, was reported to have been severely injured in the recent hurricane which swept the country. He was removed to hospital at Tela, Honduras, for treatment.

Recent financial dispatches from Great Britain indicate affairs over there are in the doldrums.

The government has 100 buffalo to give way this fall. I wonder if the butcher in our neighborhood reads the papers.

Statisticians report that the country has been eating less candy the last few months. We don't know whether to blame that on prohibition or those Empress Eugenie hats.

Dr. Walter Van Dyke Bingham, director of the Personal Research Federation of New York, says that engineers dislike people who borrow things. Darned clever, those engineers.

A Chicago man has just returned from Europe bringing along a couple of tons of medieval armor. It's funny of that before.

Then there was the New York haberdasher who posted the following sign on his store: "No business as usual during alterations."

Farm Board Continues Wheat Stocks Policy

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The policy of gradual liquidation of surplus wheat stocks will be continued by the farm board until the last of the more than 200,000,000 bushels acquired in stabilization operations has been swept from the bulging storehouses.

This became apparent Thursday in the board's rejection of the "Walla Walla" plan for relieving wheat farmers' low-price distress, but it brought a sharp criticism by the plan's sponsors who asserted the federal agency "will wait indefinitely for the perfect plan while the wheat farmers perish under surplus production."

Representative Summers, republican, Washington, chairman of the Pacific Northwest group sponsoring the "Walla Walla" plan, made this statement before leaving the city. He added that members of the board were "fine gentlemen individually who are overworked and overcautious in a time of dire distress."

Child Drowns As Houseboat Sinks

Virgil Martin Loses Life at Van Buren, Mo.; Parents Narrowly Escape

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo.—One child was drowned and the parents and two other children were rescued from a sinking houseboat Thursday night after a houseboat on which they were floating from West Eminence to the north Arkansas cotton fields struck a pier at the new bridge at Van Buren and capsized.

Virgil Martin, aged 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Martin, was drowned when his father lost hold of him in the confusion. Mrs. Martin and an infant leaped into the river as the boat started to list, while her husband took Virgil and another son, five, and jumped into the swirling waters. The women and baby were rescued by a family living in a nearby houseboat. Luke Moore, a farmer, dragged Martin and the one child out of the river after they had gone down the second time. The other child's body was found two hours later.

Martin said he was out of work and had no money. He decided to float down into Arkansas on the houseboat in an effort to make some money picking cotton. The victim's father and brother were given treatment, as both were nearly drowned when taken from the river.

Arrest Bank Robbery Suspect at Texarkana

TEXARKANA.—Chester Peavy, 28, who lives here, was placed in the Arkansas side city jail late Thursday as a suspect in connection with the robbery of the bank at Avery, Texas, 40 miles west of here. Texas officials who requested his arrest said they have strong circumstantial evidence. Peavy refused to return to Texas.

without a requisition. He is said to be a brother of Clyde Peavy, who was arrested in Red River county and now is in the Clarksville jail as one of the trio who robbed the bank. Peavy was reared a few miles east of here and has many relatives in Texarkana.

United States General Is Decorated in France

PARIS.—(AP)—General Douglas Mac-

Arthur, chief of staff of the United States army, who has been observing the French army maneuvers, Wednesday was decorated with the grand cross of the Legion of Honor by Andre Magliot, the minister of war. This distinction, next to the highest which the French government confers, also was given General Pershing after the World War. General MacArthur was cited at the final review of the maneuvers before a group of visiting generals.

There's a Kingdom 'round the corner,
Awaiting there for me,
And every day we get a glimpse,
A bit of ecstasy.
There's a Kingdom 'round the corner,
Awaiting there for you,
And if with patience you will search
You'll chance upon it too.
There's a Kingdom 'round the corner
What does it hold for you?
Maybe it's wealth, success or fame,
Maybe a love so true.
There's a Kingdom 'round the corner,
What does it mean to me?
It's Adventure Unexpected.
The thrill of Mystery.—E. W. I.

Youth Is Shot While On a Squirrel Hunt

RUSSELVILLE—Henry Arnold 21, of Plainview, was brought to a local hospital painfully but not seriously injured after being accidentally shot by Tom Owen, 22, a companion, while they were hunting squirrels near Fourche river early in the morning.

Arnold, Owen and Charley Harrison were together when Arnold left the pair, going down a trail. He cut across to their left and when Owen's dog spotted him, Owen fired, saying he did not recognize Arnold because of a colored sweater he was wearing.

Hooks and Slides

On the Spot
WHEN Notre Dame wins this year, it probably will be observed by many that "the hook and slide" guided the team to victory. When the team loses, the hook and slide will be the cause of the team's defeat. Hank Anderson is the man on the spot.

Knock on the Hitters
THIS other day Mel Ott drove three runners home with long hits to the outfield. All he got for it was a cheer from the crowd and three times at bat from the scorers, the scorers by having been called this year. There ought to be a law, etc.

New Champion
THE name of the next welterweight champion of the world is Lou Brockard. That is to say, he will beat Young Jack Thompson when they meet in Madison Square Garden, Boston, Oct. 23. I wonder if Ray Alvis or Jack Kearns has just a teeny-weeny piece of Brockard?

You Never Can Tell
CHARLEY KOCSIS of Detroit was one of the favorites to win the national amateur at Chicago. He had beaten Tommy Armour in a playoff for the Michigan state title. Thus, when he set out on his qualifying round, he drew some of the best of a gallery. At the seventh hole he was five over par. Finally, he pulled out of it, he scored a neat birdie on the 18th hole. Darn that game!

Hope, You Can't
CONSIDER the crushing anti-climax of former Champion Harrison "Jimmy" Johnston, playing over the same course at the same time. For 12 holes he played beautiful golf. Then, all at once, sixes teared up out of the fairways and smote him down. Doggone that game!

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

THREE second generation athletes will make the University of Chicago football eleven this fall, and two of them will be sons of men on the Maroon coaching staff. They are Paul Stagg, veteran quarterback and son of head coach A. A. Stagg, and H. W. Page, Jr., son of Pat Page, assistant to the "old man." The third son of a former Maroon athlete is William B. Cassels, a catcher at Jackie, whose father, Bert Cassels, played end on Chicago's Big Ten Champions of 1929. Young Stagg was the first son of a former football star to win his major "C" in the grid sport. The "old man" coached, played quarterback and was captain of the first Chicago eleven in 1892.

Baseball, Too

IF golf is an uncertain game, consider the vagaries of baseball. Hack Wilson, big shot one year, was the next. Walte Hoyt, slumped to Detroit last year as a rather well washed up, sent to the Athletics and now going like a barn fire, with two straight shutout victories to his credit. And Earl Webb, since 1925 playing with Toledo, the Giants, Louisville, the Cubs, Los Angeles and the Red Sox, now hitting everything he sees in the shape of a baseball.

Well, Well!
ONE of the things not to do is to match up-and-coming young heavyweights with Joe Seayra. Joe spotted the touted Charlie Retzlaff 20 pounds and patted him around. Could it be that Mr. Retzlaff is not so much of a "Ripper" as popularly supposed?

Houston Defeats Barons in Second

Texas Leaguers Even Up Dixie Series—3rd Game at Houston Saturday

Jimmy Walkup, the tiny star pitcher of the Birmingham Barons, held Houston to seven hits Thursday and himself got three safeties in three times at bat—but Dick McCabe, the Houston hurler, allowed only four hits, and the Buffaloes won the second game of the Dixie Series 3 to 0. The teams went to Houston Friday, with one victory each, and resume the series play Saturday in the Texas city. The two games in the Southern association city were attended by a total of 29,890 persons who paid $42,311. The next three games will be played in Houston, and if a sixth is required, the series will revert back to Birmingham.

The Yankees slaughtered St. Louis 17 to 0 in the first game, and won 6 to 1 in the final, which was featured by two home runs by Babe Ruth, running his total to 42 for the season. The Boston Red Sox beat Cleveland 9-2 in the first game of a double-header, but lost the nightcap 2-1.

In the National League, the New York Giants defeated the Champion Cardinals 6-2. St. Louis used 17 players, but Bill Walker, the New York hurler, was right, holding the champs to six hits while his teammates were garnering eleven.

The Boston Braves defeated Pittsburgh 1-0 in the first game, but the Pirates took the final of a double-header 4-2. The Phillies beat Cincinnati 8-3.

The Chicago Cubs won their eighth straight, beating Brooklyn 4-3.

He then surrendered to Deputy United States Marshal Buhler, who took him before United States Commissioner Stevens, where he waived examination and was released on a bond of $1,000, to await action of the federal grand jury.

Sheriff Turquette, accompanied by federal prohibition enforcement officers and armed with a search warrant, raided Crank's home August 26 and seized about 500 gallons of liquor which they said was stored on the premises. None of the family was at home. The liquor was stored in the county jail. Crank went to Mexico, it

Extra care— but no extra cost

We wash your clothes with IVORY SOAP

To give your clothes the widest possible margin of soap-safety, we are now using Ivory—the purest, safest soap we know.
We use Ivory exclusively although it costs us more than ordinary soaps—because it lengthens the life of your clothes. But we do not charge you a penny more for this extra service!
Each thing you send us... linen... cotton... silk or wool... is run through baths of bland, pure Ivory suds—suds made with water that's softer than rain. Washed until they're spotless, then rinsed and rinsed until every soapy bubble is gone. What results! White clothes are whiter... colored clothes are brighter... there's a fragrant freshness about them all that Ivory Soap alone can give.
Don't you think you'd find it an economy to let us "Ivory-wash" your clothes each week? Just telephone and our driver will call promptly.

Dad Says Powers Was "Bad Boy"

Harry F. Powers, West Virginia "Bluebeard," who lured love-seeking women to their deaths through a matrimonial agency, always was a "very bad bad," according to Wilko Drenth, left, pious immigrant farmer of Fairbanks, Ia., who recognized newspaper pictures of Powers as his son, Harn Drenth, who left home years ago. Looking at the picture of the romeo-murderer with Drenth is his son-in-law, Evert Schroder.

Hurls Child To Death On Street

Mother's Religious Mania Blamed for Murder of Daughter

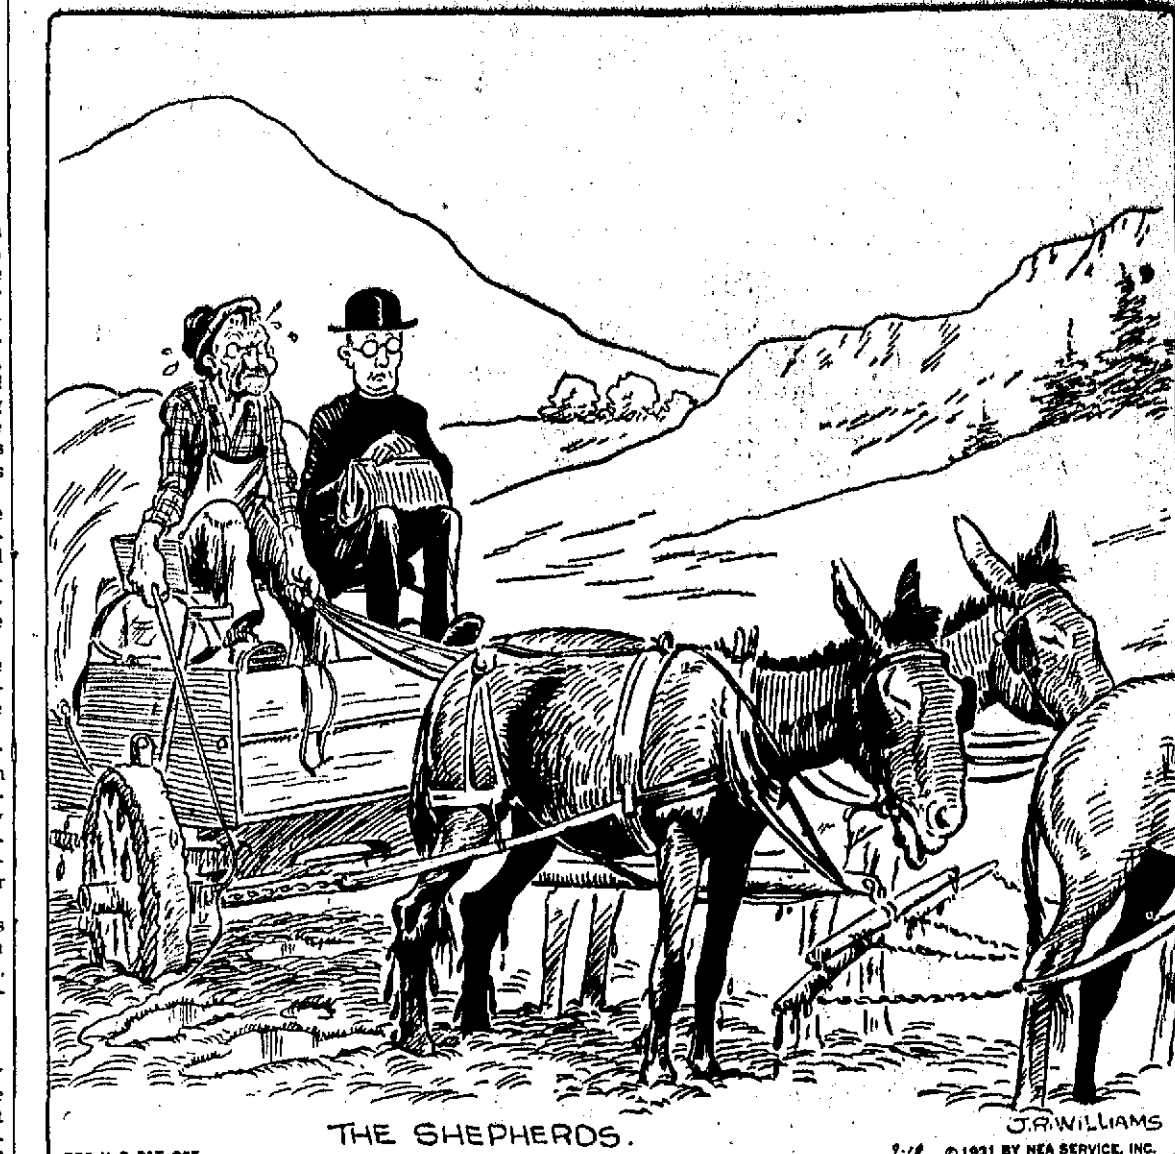

NEW YORK—Children playing in the street in front of 130 East 123rd street and pedestrians passing the house stood horror stricken Thursday and then fled in panic when a screaming woman thrust her head and shoulders out of a fourth story window, dragged a struggling, fair-haired girl of eight to the sidewalk below and then flung her out to the sidewalk below, where she died at once. The woman was Mrs. Robina Marren, 43. The child was her daughter, Catherine.
As the body of the child struck the sidewalk, her playmates ran screaming to their homes. Women, who had watched the mother shout and gesticulate from the window before she withdrew her head, turned away from the scene. One woman fainted.
When police arrived they found the door to the woman's apartment locked and demands for admission were refused.
They at last burst down the door and found the mother, kneeling in a bedroom. From the stream of prayers that burst from her lips as they approached her, they came to the conclusion that the woman was a religious fanatic and had thrown her child out of the window in a frenzy.
They were forced to hold her arms and legs as she fought against them and took her to Bellevue hospital, where she was placed under observation in the psychopathic ward.

It was the minimum September quotation for 30 years, the culmination of five successive days of decline brought about by excessive supplies. Chicago shipping hogs brought only $5.90 a hundred while other kinds of selected animals sold at $5.70 to $5.85.

Work, Work, and plenty of it in this part of the country. The farmers are very busy now, but the price of cotton is not so very encouraging at present.
